

BROKERS WEEKLY

Xerxes Nova is riding a sales wave as East New York starts to see big changes.

Page C2

Adam Frisch announces new Sierra Residential office in Midtown Manhattan.

Page C3

Alfa Development CEO Michael Namer hosts a soiree to celebrate the opening of his Village Green West.

Page C4

C4 WEDNESDAY, MAY 4, 2016

BROKERS WEEKLY

GALLERY

Alfa Development welcomed Tori Mellott, senior design and market editor at Traditional Home, and her guests to Village Green West, the 27-unit condominium located at 245 West 14th Street. Curated by Elliman Experience, Douglas Elliman's events-focused lifestyle platform, the festivities included a cocktail hour in the penthouse residence, where guests were greeted by Mellott and Alfa Development CEO and chairman Michael Namer (pictured right). Dinner was prepared by Frank Langello, Executive Chef of Babbo Ristorante e Enoteca, and was served in one of the building's full-floor tower apartments.

Photos by Hunter Abrams

Analisse Taft-Gersten and Frank di Biasi

Gina Faridniya and Kathryn Hopkins

Michael Namer with chef Frank Langello.